NEW YORK, March 31, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Gold Street, the leading Wall Street admissions consulting firm, today released its 2025-2026 Placement Report. Over two consecutive cycles, Gold Street has successfully placed undergraduates in the nation's most cutthroat annual recruitment process. This year's results are the strongest yet.

For the first time in the firm's history, the annual placement report includes multiple undergraduate Megafund Private Equity placements: two flagship buyout funds and one growth equity fund. Megafund PE seats represent some of the most competitive outcomes in all of finance recruiting, with acceptance rates far below one percent of applicants. Landing three from a single 25-candidate cohort is a result that places Gold Street's track record well above programs at the most elite universities in the country.

Investment banking placements spanned a wide range of firms, including Goldman Sachs, Evercore, JP Morgan, Lazard, Moelis, Citi, BofA Securities, Barclays and Wells Fargo Securities. The class represents Gold Street's most diverse firm coverage to date, encompassing every major category of Wall Street platform from elite boutique to global bulge bracket.

"We are not a competitor to the target school pipeline. We are the replacement for it," said Brian Landeros, Managing Director at Gold Street. "Gold Street was founded on a simple thesis: prep infrastructure at elite schools was never about cultivating talent, but about gatekeeping access. Our results are a proof of concept for what happens when you strip that infrastructure down and rebuild it around merit."

Gold Street: The Undisputed Leader in Wall Street Recruiting

Gold Street is the leading Admissions Consulting firm for navigating Wall Street’s fiercely competitive recruiting process.

By equipping candidates from all backgrounds with proprietary tools, tailored strategies and insider insights, we ensure that success is based on preparation, merit and determination, empowering every candidate to achieve their true maximum potential.

Proprietary Insights, Proven Success

Mastering Wall Street recruiting requires deep proprietary expertise. Gold Street provides bespoke, high-touch strategies on a candidate-by-candidate basis, with direct access to industry professionals and technical training that enables candidates to stand out among an ultra-competitive field of talent.

Within days of onboarding, candidates secure critical pre-internships across investment banking, private equity and venture capital, which are often prerequisites for elite firms. Our guidance also extends to supporting candidates through the recruitment process for selective investment banking feeder clubs & organizations on their respective campuses.

Bespoke, High-Touch Guidance

Wall Street’s recruiting process is cutthroat, demanding more than generalized approaches or courses. Gold Street delivers a fully personalized strategy that plays to each candidate’s unique strengths and goals.

Every candidate receives unlimited consultant access, one-one-one tutoring, résumé refinement and recurring mock interviews. From developing networking roadmaps to mastering technical topics, every step of our proprietary approach ensures that candidates stand out among their peers in a crowded field.

Social Impact Through the Revival Scholars Program

Gold Street is a Social Enterprise that is structured to cultivate opportunity while simultaneously breaking down barriers for underserved communities. Through the Revival Scholars Program, we provide exceptional Pell Grant-eligible candidates access to the full suite of our services at no cost.

Our Revival Scholars, hand-selected for their academic excellence and commitment to leadership, gain tools that are essential for success within Wall Street’s rigorous recruiting process. With a focus on merit, Gold Street ensures that every candidate has full and unbridled access to elite career opportunities regardless of where they come from.

Setting the Gold Standard

Wall Street recruiting is ruthless. Gold Street has cracked the code with results that underscore the power of our proprietary, high-touch approach and hand-tailored guidance.

As we shift our focus toward the Class of 2029, we remain steadfast in our mission: to illuminate the path for the next generation of finance leaders.
